True to Maria Grazia Chiuri's vision, Dior's designer tote bags for women embody codes of new elegance by exemplifying a functional, modern and elegant leather accessory.

She performs this feat while paying homage to Christian Dior, a true visionary of his time.

In both miniature and large versions, the Dior Book Tote luxury canvas tote bag is an original creation by Maria Grazia Chiuri that has established itself as a new classic among the House's luxury bags for women.

Accented by the 'Christian Dior' signature, the designer tote bags can be enjoyed in a myriad of colors and materials, like leather, velvet, canvas, mesh or even all-over embroidery.

Other variations of the luxury high-end tote like the Catherine Tote pointedly honor the major figures, passions and fundamental themes that have profoundly marked the life of the designer Christian Dior.

Dior's ateliers follow a meticulous and uncompromising creative process.

To complete the look, the House offers luxury handbags, backpacks and messenger bags for women, as well as a selection of coordinated accessories and ready-to-wear.

Scarves and Mitzah scarves tied around top handles, or women's wallets and leather goods slipped into main compartments make it easy to match the luxury beach tote to create a unique look inspired by the designer's universe.

Gambling.

Gambling is a tricky prospect in Malaysia, as the largely Muslim nation has very strict gambling laws that render gaming essentially illegal, though there are some options to be found.

Other than that, the only other legal gambling venue in the country is the Genting Highlands Resort (more on that below), and, even then, Sharia law prevents Muslims from taking part on religious grounds.

The status of online gambling in Malaysia is considerably less clear-cut, however.

There are no specific references to online gambling in the Betting Act, and no relevant amendment has yet been made, so the market remains largely unregulated.

Beyond gambling on football, legal betting at horse races is also popular among non-Muslim citizens, while Sports Toto, a 4D (four-digit) lottery operator, has around 680 outlets across the country.

Situated 6,100ft above sea level in the Titiwangsa Mountain Range, the 'Fun City Above The Clouds' is far from the usual casino, and its unique setting makes it a must-see for those visiting the country.
