Health Care Fraud

Health care fraud can be committed by medical providers, patients, and others wh o intentionally deceive the health care system to receive unlawful benefits or p ayments.

Beware of 'free' services. If you're asked to provide your health insurance information for a 'free' service, the service is probably no t free and could be fraudulently charged to your insurance company.

Check your explanation of benefits (EOB) regularly. Make sure the dates, locatio ns, and services billed match what you actually received. If there's a conce rn, contact your health insurance provider.

Fraud Involving Prescriptions

Diversion: Diverting legal prescriptions for illegal uses, such as selling your
